

WASHINGTON NEWS!

The Senate Considers Teller's Silver Resolution.

The President Nominates Governor Griggs for Attorney General.

Senator Allen Receives Testimonial for His Defense of Woman's Honor.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Washington, Jan. 22.—On the desk of Allen, of Nebraska, at the opening of today's session of the senate, was a stand of beautiful American Beauty and Bride roses as a testimonial from the ladies' department for their noble and brave defense of woman's honor. Allen championed the cause of Mrs. M. E. Roberts, summarily dismissed from the pension office.

Cannon, of Utah, introduced a bill providing for the publication of the pension roll.

The resolution of Teller providing that bonds of the United States may be paid in silver was laid before the senate. Stewart, of Nevada, addressed the senate. He said the disregard of a resolution which is already the law of the United States brought many calamities upon the land and the results had been disastrous and lamentable. He attributed the panic of 1893 directly to a disregard of the law.

Nelson (Minnesota) offered the following amendment to the Teller resolution: "And it is the duty of the United States government under existing laws to maintain the parity of its value in gold and silver money, so that a dollar of one money shall, for all monetary purposes, always be equal in value to dollars of the other metal."

After Stewart's speech the senate passed a number of bills, to which there were no objections, including one providing that widows, whose marriage to discharged soldiers takes place after the passage of the act, shall not be entitled to a pension.

IN THE HOUSE.

In the house today a resolution requesting the state department to transmit to the house all information in its possession relative to the military execution of Col. Ruiz, the Spanish envoy to insurgent camp at Aranzuez, was adopted without division.

The foreign affairs committee reported, with an unfavorable recommendation, the Lewis resolution calling on the state department for a draft of the Hawaiian annexation treaty and information on what constitutional way the president had to contract for the payment of the Hawaiian debt of $4,000,000 out of the public treasury.

Hitt explained that the resolution had been offered at the last session, and as the treaty had been made public there was no necessity for its passage. Bailey (Tex.) thought the latter part of the resolution breached a question of importance that could be inquired into with propriety.

Hitt cut off the debate with a demand for the previous question. The resolution was laid on the table, 121-105.

Bailey, the democratic leader, created a flurry by rising to a question of personal privilege in connection with the coinage of the Cuban debate Thursday. Bailey reviewed the entire controversy and in conclusion reiterated several times the statement that the agreement he had with Hitt had been violated.

Hitt, Henderson and others in reply pointed out that no such agreement, if made (which they insisted was not the case) would be valid because it involved a waiver of the rules of the house. The speaker emphatically supported this view and re-affirmed the statement that no agreement was made.

The house took up the Indian appropriation bill.

AFTER JIM KING'S SCALP.

The Thornton Restaurant's Experience With Two Men.

Thornton, N. M., Jan. 21.—Jim King, the proprietor of the "Short Order" restaurant, which he told to your correspondent as follows:

Jim owed a bill of $5.30 to Donatiano Gallagher, a stockman at Fort Blanco, (Gallagher, with Jose Maria Atencio, came to Jim's place at 9 o'clock on the night of the 20th and upon the money being produced and offered in payment, he (Gallagher) demanded one of Jim's dogs in part payment in place of the entire amount. Not caring to part with the dog he refused to settle the account that way and laid the full amount of the account on the counter for Gallagher to take.

Gallagher, after taking all but $1.55 of the money, attacked Jim, and with the aid of Atencio tried to hang him by the neck with a piece of baling wire fastened to the beams overhead. But upon Jim making a desperate fight they went out of the house and left, taking Jim's dog with them.

APPEAL NOT GRANTED.

In the Talbot Matter—Judge Dunlap Appointed Administrator.

Probate Judge Hubbell to-day refused to grant the appeal of Nellie B. Field, in the matter of the estate of W. E. Talbot on a motion to strike out the exceptions filed by the creditors of the estate, on the ground that they had slept away their rights and their claims had become outlawed by the statute of limitation.

Judge Dunlap was appointed administrator for the estate of his brother, Samuel Dunlap, deceased. He submitted a bond in the sum of $25,000, signed by S. S. Strickler and M. S. Otero, which was approved by the court.

A number of bills were allowed against the estate of Pardo Anaya. David Weiler, administrator for the estate of Martin Mamreth, was ordered to sell the personal property of the deceased at private sale.

BRIBERY CHARGES!

Ohio Legislative Committee Investigating Them To-day.

Horace B. Dunbar, Brother of E. H. Dunbar, of This City, Testified.

Forty-five Klondikers Arrived To-day With $250,000 of Gold Dust.

NO CHANGE IN MARYLAND.

Cincinnati, Jan. 22.—Representatives Butler, Spellmeyer and Kline, of the house investigating committee, were present with Senators Burke, Long, Robinson, Finley and Garfield during the bribery examinations to-day. Senator J. J. Sullivan is here with Attorneys Dougherty and Huling representing the defense.

Horace B. Dunbar, president and manager of the Gibson house, was recalled. He produced records showing that Henry H. Boyce, of New York; H. Hollenbeck, of Chicago; H. H. Archer, J. F. Hines, of Columbus, Ohio, and others connected on both sides with the senatorial contest at Columbus were guests at the Gibson house from January 7 to 10. Mr. Dunbar testified that Mr. Boyce used a private phone and the conversations were taken down at a telephone in the general office down stairs. To-day Mr. Dunbar produced the unpaid telephone bills of Boyce, which gave records when Boyce, Hollenbeck, Hines, Allen O. Meyers, Jr. and others in Cincinnati called up Dick, Rathbone, Kuris, Allen O. Meyers, Sr., and others in Columbus, giving the time and charges. Mr. Dunbar testified to conversations that took place between his hotel in Cincinnati and the senatorial manager in Columbus.

SWINDLING TICKET BROKERS.

One Arrested in Chicago with $50,000 Worth of Bogus Passes.

Chicago, Jan. 22.—While looking up evidence against W. H. Blum, the ticket broker, the police found in one office bogus passes, mostly editorial, which apparently represented $50,000 secured from unsuspecting strangers. The discovery led to the belief that a band of swindlers in the guise of ticket brokers is in existence in Chicago, reaping a harvest by the sale of bogus tickets.

General passenger and ticket agents of ten railroads appeared before the grand jury to secure indictments against ticket brokers for alleged illegal transactions in passes and editorial mileage. Sixteen cases were heard. Among the passes said to be found in the Clark Street broker's office are five made out in the name of Mayor Harrison.

ARMENIAN TROUBLES.

Thousands Expelled by Police, Who Search for a Revolutionist.

Constantinople, Jan. 22.—There is great uneasiness at Yant, where the police are making a house to house search for Derozan, a revolutionist, from Caucasus. Many Armenians have been arrested and many thousands expelled. The Armenian bishop has resigned, owing to the fruitlessness of his intervention in behalf of his co-religionists.

TRIPLE MURDER, THEN SUICIDE.

More About the John H. Matthews Crimes in New York.

The New York Herald of Tuesday, Jan. 18, reached this city in last night's mail, and it contains a long account of the Matthews murders and suicide, with illustrations of the little grocery store, Matthews and wife, and of their two children. THE CITIZEN clips the following extracts:

Letters left by the unhappy couple indicated that they had been plotting their tragic taking off for five long years, and that the triple murder and suicide were committed as the result of a direct understanding between Matthews and his wife.

Although there is no positive proof, it is believed that the wife, at least, was insane as a result of serious illness, but Coroner's Physician O'Hanlon advances the theory that, seeing nothing but misery before her, she prevailed upon her husband to commit the awful crime.

Although the man in one of the letters left behind confessed that his mind was gone, the autopsy revealed the fact that he was in good health and apparently sound mentally. This is one of the several strange phases of a remarkable tragedy.

Here follows a long account of the finding of the dead bodies, which is entirely too horrible to be reproduced in such a great religious paper as THE CITIZEN; also the several pencillings on letter heads from both Matthews and his wife, among which the following is clipped from the Herald:

Ford, the clerk, had been called into the store by Captain Price, who handed him a letter addressed to "Messrs. Ford & Johnson, No. 426 Columbus avenue."

Like the other communications it was written in pencil and in a large, scrawling hand. It may be regarded as Matthews' will. It is given here verbatim:

Dear Sirs—You will please give to a burial, then sell the stock & fixtures, paying burial expenses, which should be inexpensive. Then the few accounts. Then to yourselves each $50, the balance to the landlady. You should be able to close it in a week's time. Please deliver the household goods to the persons whom Mrs. Matthews has written the directions & she requests that a special messenger be sent to Mrs. Reid, No. 702 East 170th street, with the letter and package on the desk also a special messenger to John Landphier at Park & Tilford's, Broadway & 81.

Give Schuyler's bicycle to George Reid, is overhauled, back of Sheldon, north side of store.

Then followed discoveries which lent pathos to the tragedy. On an upright piano in the parlor was a book of musical exercises. The volume was opened at a place entitled "The Midnight Hour." On a table in the same room was Charles Reade's novel, "Foul Play." On the floor was written, in Mrs. Matthews' hand, "To Schuyler, from Mamma. Merry Xmas, Dec. 25, '97."

There was also another book, with the title, "Dream Life." Neatly laid out in the parlor was a pile of clean underclothing, the greater part belonging to the children.

To John Landphier, of New York, a cousin, Mrs. Matthews left the following note:

I have been ill and so has Herman. We decided upon this last night. Herman was determined to die. I would not stay behind, so we are going to die together. I am going with him, and we are going to take our darling with us. Please send my girl in a white casket. Use your own judgment about the boy. Please bury us at Highland, N. Y. Herman has been a good husband to me, but we have lost a lot of money.

Further on in the article of the butchery and suicide, the Herald says:

Landphier declared that he had never heard Matthews or his wife say anything which would indicate that they might commit suicide. Matthews was not without money, he said, and this was substantiated when Capt. Price found a bank book, which shows $1,000 to the grocer's credit in the Colonial bank.

What property he had, in addition to the stock at the grocery store, is not known at this time. Landphier said that Mrs. Matthews was seriously ill for several weeks last fall and was a patient in St. Mark's hospital.

To Mrs. George Reed, a friend who resides at 702 East 170th street, Mrs. Matthews left the following letter:

My dear Mrs. Reed—I can't tell you why we have done this—more than that we are both tired of life, as we can't get well. Mr. M., as well as myself, is not, nor has been well for years, though he looks healthy.

My dear Mrs. Reed, I have to take them, but I can never go and leave them to suffer and fight alone. It is our right, and we feel that we are taking all that is dear. My cousin has said that I should for further disposal.

I would not ask this, but I haven't a lady friend I know of. Mrs. F. I know, but I leave her children, and I must have a lady here.

My dear, I send a little box of H. and S. for you, and I leave things for George and Jennie. I leave for Jennie and you get all of Hattie's dolls and cradle and so on, and little chairs. A flat pastebord box is on top kitchen shelf, with doll furniture. Take them for Jennie. S's dict for his dear little friend George. Also ties and S's sled take for Geo. and Hattie's to be sent to Minnie. Also Hattie's. S. has new ones. Geo. can have it if he wants them. Mrs. F. can have S. a coat if she wants it, and now goodby, my dear friend. Sincerely yours, J. H. Matthews.

Please leave our jewelry on us.

Note.—The crimes, as THE CITIZEN stated yesterday afternoon, occurred at No. 426 Columbus avenue, New York, and at other points in the Herald's article substantiate the fact that John H. Matthews, who murdered his family and himself, was a well-known man in Albany, and who, up to four years ago, was a general merchant and flour miller at Cuba, this country.

After reading THE CITIZEN's account of the career of Matthews at Cuba, he said: "Yes, every word of it is so—sold out to my brother, E. A. Miera, only a few years ago, and I have no doubt that when he left Bernallillo county he took along with him at least $15,000. I know him and wife for at least fourteen years, and I never dreamed that they would end their earthly lives in such a tragic manner."
